

Damon J. Noto, M.D

Dr. Noto has had the unique opportunity of training in some of the best academic institutions in the country as well as having the privilege to train with some of the best complementary practitioners practicing today. This has given Dr. Noto a very unique perspective on how to treat patients. He prefers to look at patients as a whole considering their physical and mental aspects and what the person is going through in their life.

Biography & Affiliations

A graduate of Mount Sinai School of Medicine, Dr. Noto completed his Residency in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at the New York Presbyterian Hospital (Cornell/Columbia). During his residency, he served as the Chief Resident in Rehabilitation at The University Hospital of Columbia and Cornell.

Dr. Noto completed his Spine Fellowship at the New England Baptist Hospital.

Dr. Noto is board certified in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation by the American Board of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation (ABPMR). He currently has hospital privileges at Hackensack University Medical Center and Hackensack Surgical Center.

Further Training and Expertise Include:

- Training with Dr. Dante Implicito, M.D. (Current Chief of Spinal Surgery at Hackensack University Medical Center).
- Acupuncture Training and Traditional Chinese Medicine at Stanford University School of Medicine.
- Extensive Study of Nutrition and Exercise.
- Extensive Training in Tai Chi and Internal Martial Arts under the guidance of Dr. Y.K. Wong.